JOINT MESSAGE FROM CHAIRMAN & CEO

Mrs Elaine Ng
Chairman

Mr Joseph Tan
Chief Executive Officer

It has been an exciting year of key milestones and achievements. As we marked DCS' first anniversary, we took the opportunity to reflect on our mission and expanded mandate.

Defence Stories

DCS shares and promotes defence stories through our museums and their exhibitions and programmes. The re-opening of the Singapore Navy Museum (SNM) in June 2023 gave us the opportunity to bring stories on the importance of Singapore's Sea Lines of Communications (SLOCs), maritime security and the roles played by our Navy and sailors. The recently onboarded Singapore Air Force Museum (SAFM) will undergo a gallery refresh next year to reinvigorate the exhibition and static display spaces for a more engaging and delightful visitor experience. DCS is also working closely with the Army to refresh the Army Museum of Singapore (ARMS) and is targeting to reopen it in 2027. In March 2024, SDC was officially recognised as "Singapore's First Positive Energy Museum" and was presented with the SGBC-BCA Leadership in Sustainability Award 2024.

National Service and the evolution of the Singapore Armed Forces (SAF) is closely intertwined with Singapore's nation building and success. The upcoming NS

Square at Marina Bay includes a gallery on the story of National Service and we have been working very closely with the MINDEF project teams to curate the narratives, content and artefacts. As part of this effort, DCS had also commenced oral history interviews with national servicemen past and present.

In support of all our museums, we have begun building our collections management capability and are working closely with MINDEF to identify and safeguard items across the SAF that hold significance. These collections forge tangible connections to our defence heritage and bring stories to life. We will also improve our digital platforms to make our collections more accessible.

Expanding DCS' Role in Total Defence & Driving Strategic Partnerships

DCS has a role not only to share and promote our defence story through our galleries, programmes and exhibitions, but also to inspire and provide opportunities for Singaporeans to contribute to Total Defence. We will work closely with our partners and the community to launch new platforms for engagement. In FY2023, DCS worked with the National Day Parade 2023 (NDP) Committee and contributed a float during the pre-parade segment. To commemorate the 40th anniversary of Total Defence, we collaborated with MINDEF, Nexus to curate special pop-up exhibitions which have travelled to many educational institutions, SAFRA clubs and community spaces across the island.

To bring defence stories to a wider audience beyond our museums, DCS had leveraged on strategic partners such as SBS Transit whom we have co-curated the "Our Defence Story on the Move" series, which started with Navy Museum-themed displays and in-train panels at Downtown Line Expo Station. New MOU partners such as Nanyang Academy of Fine Arts – University of the Arts (NAFA-UAS) will help us co-create the defence story with the arts community and promote youth engagement.

In our management of MINDEF's museums, we will continuously strengthen organisational culture, professionalise corporate services and foster excellence. Our journey over the past year has been driven by the collective efforts of our dedicated staff working together with partners and volunteers. We would like to thank everyone for your unwavering support and look forward to another year of exciting developments.

MEDIA COVERAGE & SOCIAL MEDIA ENGAGEMENT

Mass media coverage was instrumental in driving the success of our museums' publicity campaigns throughout FY2023. SDC gained substantial media attention for key events, such as the Total Defence 40 Special Exhibition, Harrowing Halloween 3, and its recognition as Singapore's First Net Positive Museum. Similarly, SNM garnered extensive coverage across various platforms for its reopening ceremony and the launch of Singapore's first Navy Museum-themed train station.

REOPENING OF SINGAPORE NAVY MUSEUM

The Singapore Navy Museum (SNM) reopened on 18 June 2023 after months of refurbishment, marking a significant milestone in its journey as a service museum under Defence Collective Singapore (DCS). Originally established as the Naval Archives in 1987 at Sembawang Camp, the museum has evolved over decades to become a crucial repository of the Republic of Singapore Navy's (RSN) rich history. The reopening ceremony was graced by Senior Minister of State for Defence, Mr Heng Chee How, and attended by naval veterans, officers, and invited partners.

“This museum stands as a heartfelt and fitting tribute to the invaluable contributions of generations of men and women of the Singapore Navy. It also marks our continued commitment to modernising our naval capabilities to ensure mission success, come what may.”

– Senior Minister of State for Defence, Mr Heng Chee How

With its refreshed galleries, SNM now offers a comprehensive journey through Singapore's maritime heritage and the pivotal role the RSN plays in safeguarding the nation's waters. Visitors can explore immersive interactive displays and an expanded collection of artefacts that showcase our maritime security and naval warfare capabilities. As DCS continues to further enhance the museum content and experience, visitors can look forward to more engaging programmes and compelling experiences to learn about Singapore's rich maritime heritage and the RSN's critical role in safeguarding our waters.

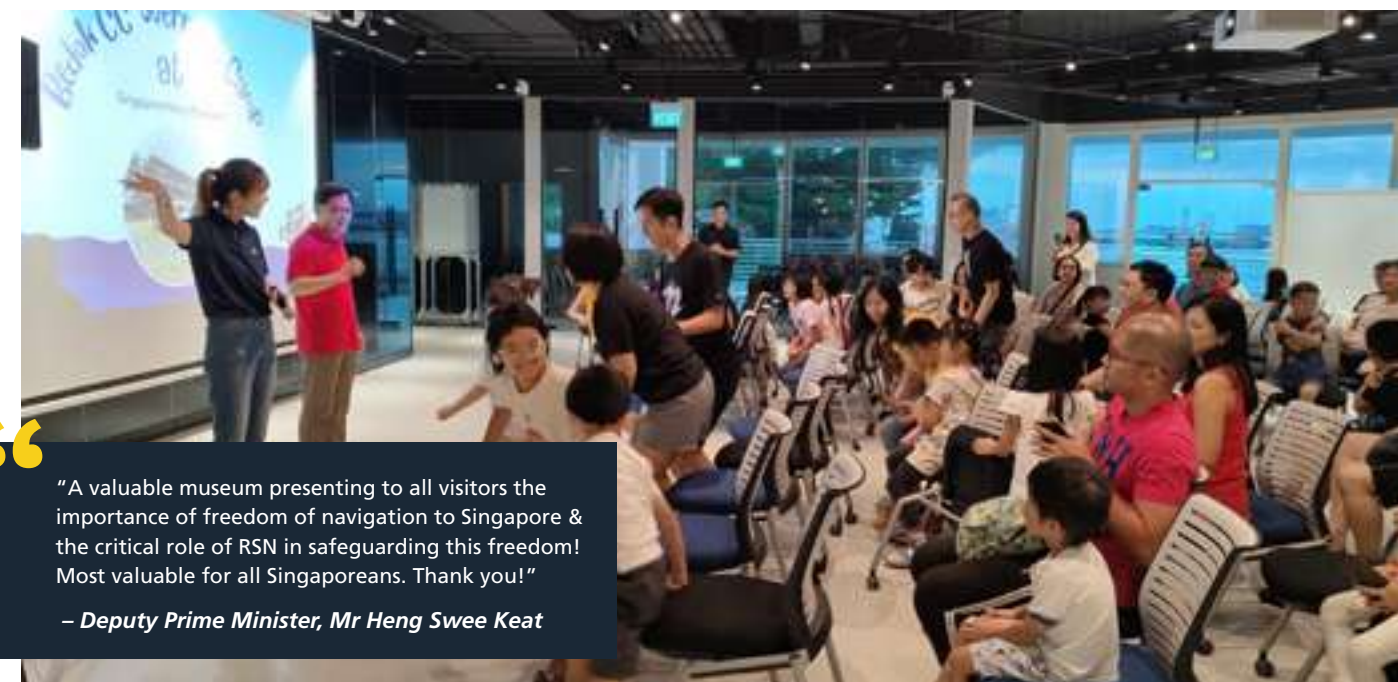

PRESERVING OUR DEFENCE HERITAGE

Since its onboarding, the SNM has undergone several enhancements driven by the collective expertise of various DCS departments. Enhancements have been progressively implemented in the gallery to elevate its appeal to schools, youth, defence groups, families and community groups, and boost overall visitorship. These included the addition of over 35 new artefacts, such as the Straits Settlement Royal Navy Volunteer Reserve (SSRNVR) logbook and the Fresnel lens from the Horsburgh Lighthouse, alongside museum-grade showcases and accompanying soundscapes to augment a more immersive learning experience.

To further enhance visitor experience, we have introduced new digital initiatives such as e-trails and audio guides for self-guided tours, children-friendly play areas, refreshed outdoor exhibits and improved wayfinding systems. A programming space has also been carved out for the museum to engage schools and other organised groups.

“A valuable museum presenting to all visitors the importance of freedom of navigation to Singapore & the critical role of RSN in safeguarding this freedom! Most valuable for all Singaporeans. Thank you!”

– Deputy Prime Minister, Mr Heng Swee Keat

Deputy Prime Minister, Mr Heng Swee Keat kickstarted the “Night at the Museum” camp experience for Bedok residents

To promote and deepen engagement, SNM hosted 19 corporate and public events. As part of the efforts to broaden outreach, the museum engaged 25 schools and developed five educational programmes. The recruitment and deployment of over 10 volunteers further anchored the museum’s commitment to community engagement.

New programmes developed to engage students of different levels

Together with the RSN, the museum also hosted several distinguished guests including Japan’s Vice Minister of Defence and the Royal Australian Navy. DCS will continuously enhance our museum spaces and develop programmes that will captivate and engage both existing and new audiences while sharing the RSN’s story in innovative ways.

BUILDING OUR COLLECTION

Since the onboarding of SNM, extensive work has been done to improve artefact handling and storage. This includes artefact assessments, conservation treatments, and cataloguing to safeguard the museum's valuable collections. The museum's storage facilities have been revamped and reorganised to house the artefacts in secure and structured environments. These processes will be implemented across DCS museums to ensure our collections are preserved with standard care.

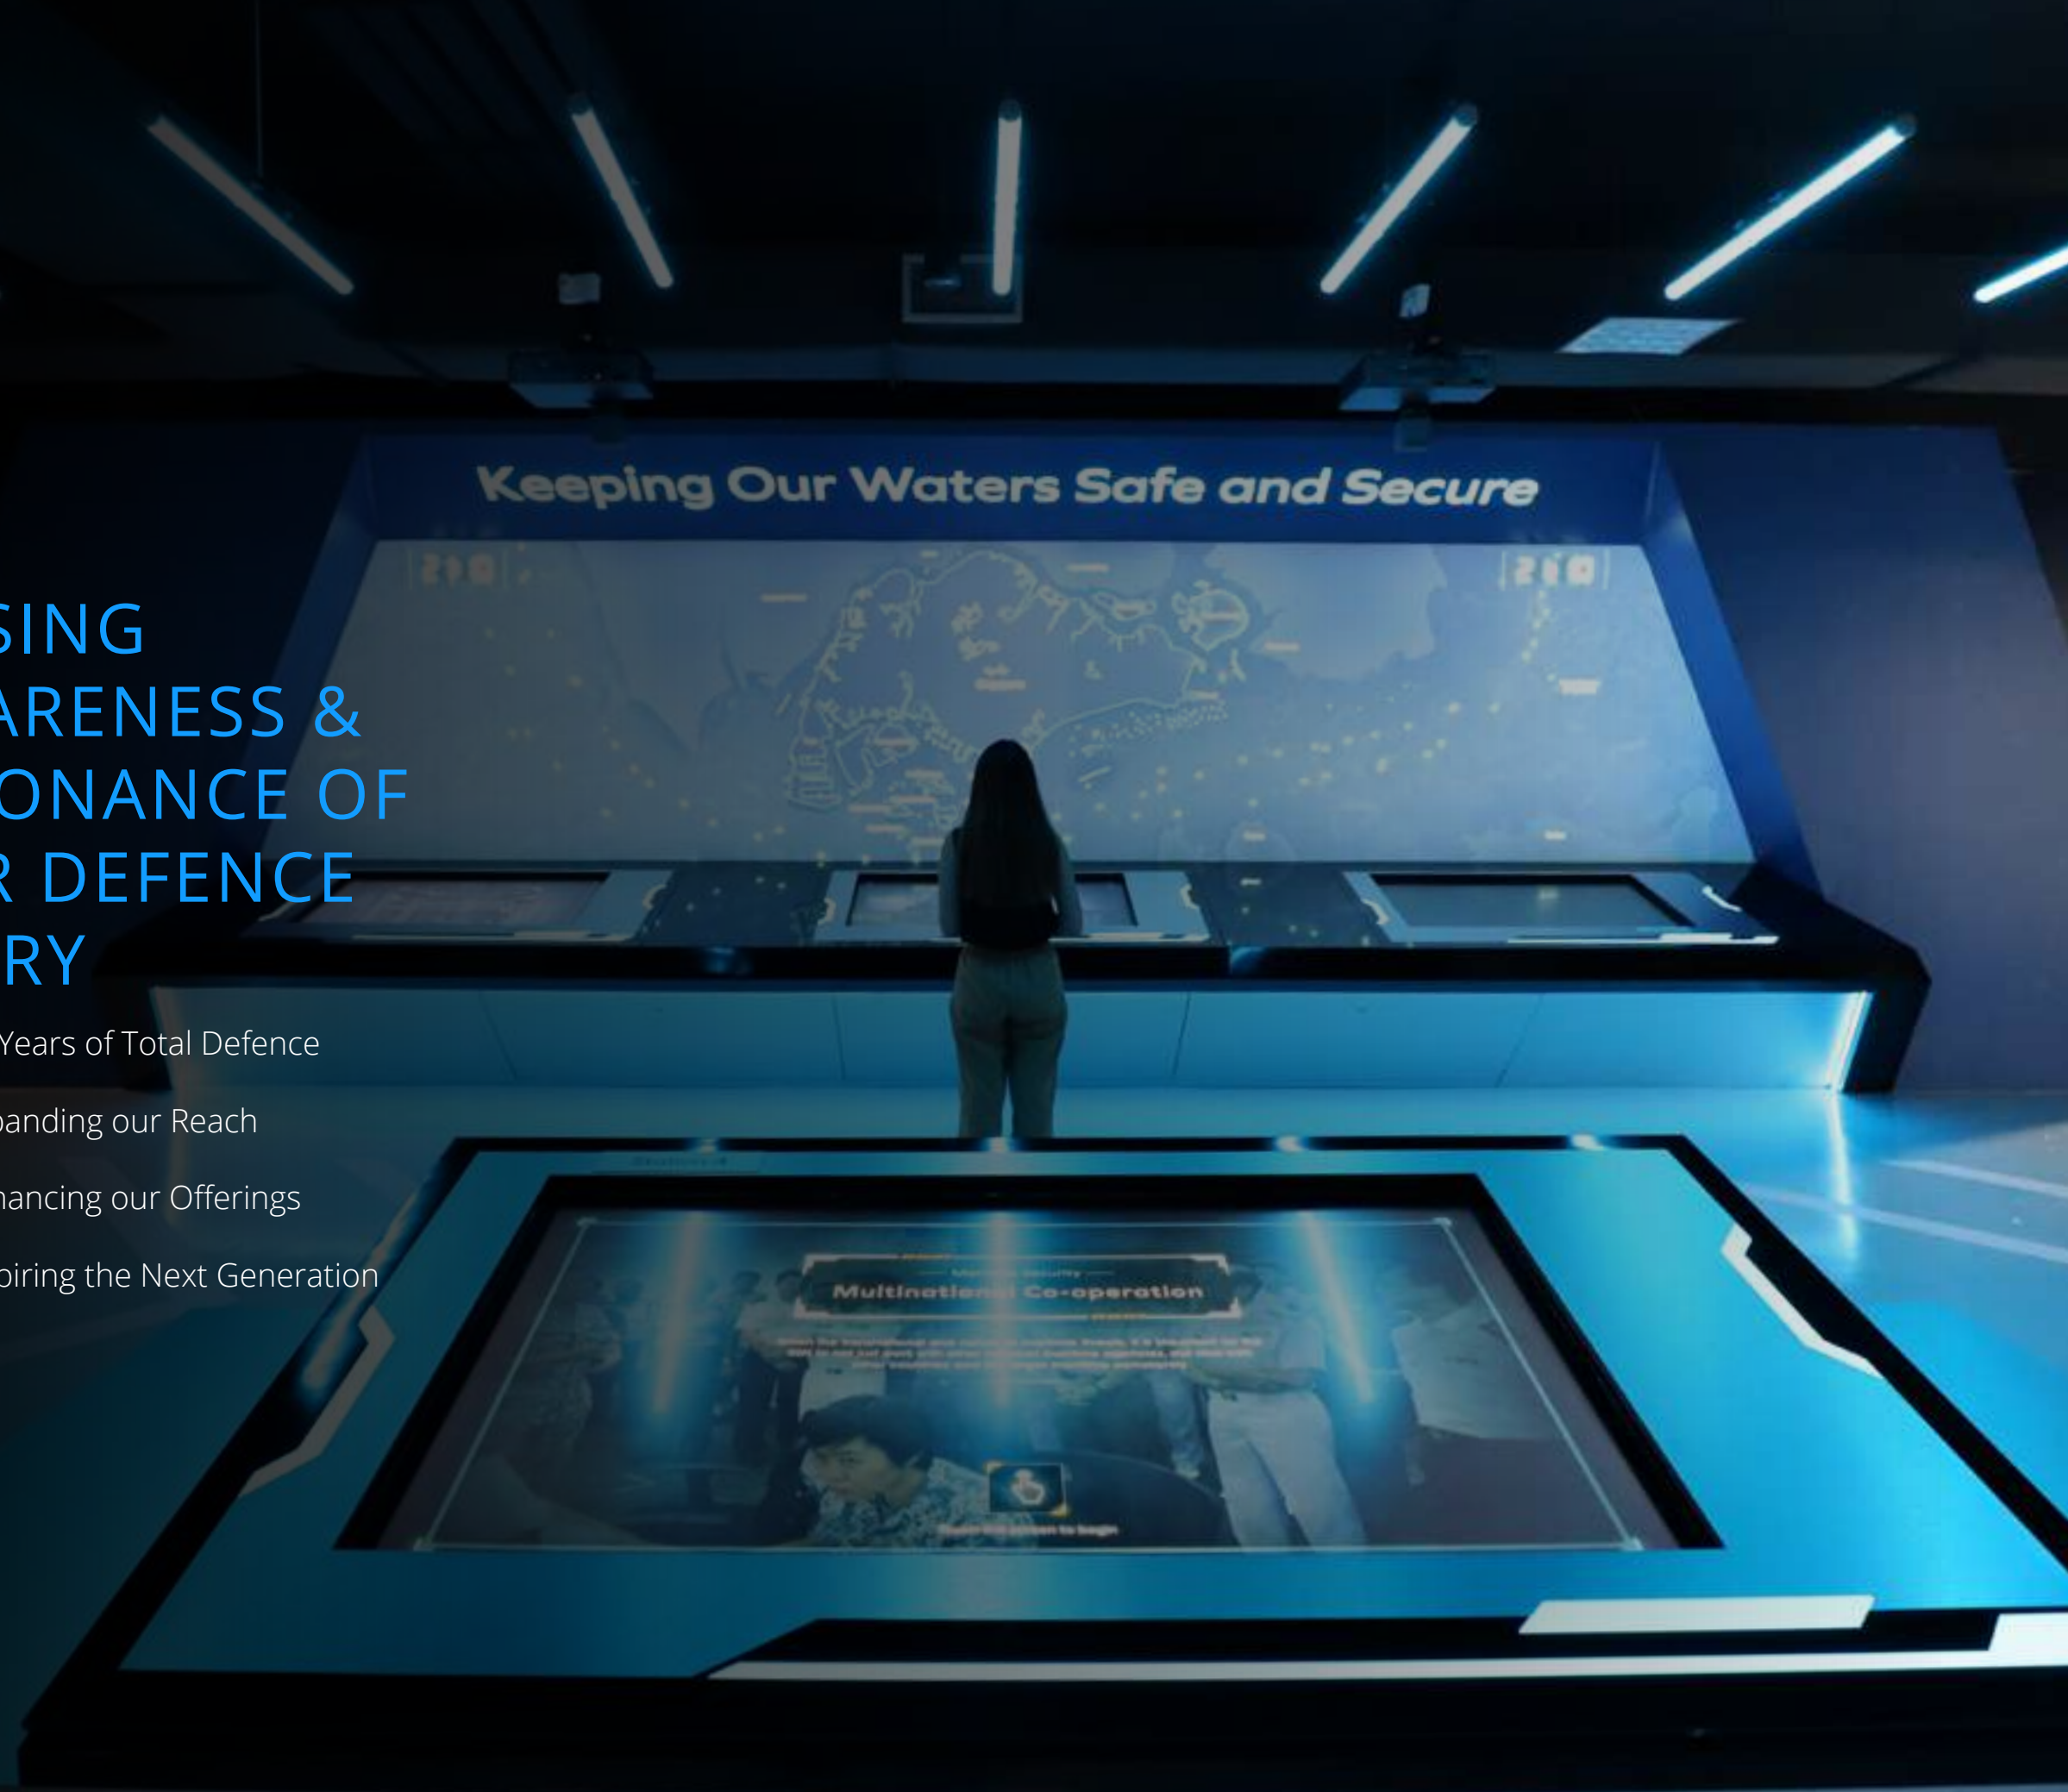

In line with our Digital Content and Engagement strategy, a new Collections Management System was set up to streamline the documentation and tracking of our artefacts and the broader SAF collections. This also helps to facilitate the digital preservation of our artefacts, safeguarding key documents related to their provenance and history. By digitising our records, our collections can also be made more accessible for curatorial research to enrich our content and visitor experience. Continuous efforts will be made to develop robust collection management capabilities across DCS museums to promote access to our collections and grow our audience through virtual platforms beyond our museums.

RAISING AWARENESS & RESONANCE OF OUR DEFENCE STORY

- 22 40 Years of Total Defence
- 24 Expanding our Reach
- 28 Enhancing our Offerings
- 30 Inspiring the Next Generation

40 YEARS OF TOTAL DEFENCE

DCS also worked with NDP 2023 Committee and contributed a TD40 float for the pre-parade show

In commemoration of 40 years of Total Defence (TD40), MINDEF Nexus and DCS jointly collaborated on "Total Defence For Thee!", an interactive exhibition with gamification elements that allow visitors to role-play as heroes facing evolving challenges. School and public programmes were developed using the exhibition as an anchor and a smaller version was also featured at SNM. Since February 2024, the exhibition has travelled to close to 50 locations, starting from Singapore Discovery Centre (SDC) to tertiary institutions, army camps, commercial sites and community spaces such as shopping malls, town hubs, libraries and SAFRA clubs.

As part of the TD40 campaign, a unique school programme was developed, taking a futuristic approach by placing students in the year 2064. Students took on the roles of Time Walkers, revisiting Singapore's past Total Defence events to save our collective memory. The programme, featuring station-based activities, helped students immerse themselves in understanding the role of Total Defence in overcoming past national crises. To optimise its reach, a hybrid DIY version was developed along with digital resources that enabled educators to conduct the programme in schools.

EXPANDING OUR REACH

MOU signed with SBS Transit to jointly promote our NE and Singapore's defence stories to commuters through creative storytelling

This year, DCS strengthened strategic partnerships beyond our museum spaces, including our first cross-sector collaboration with SBS Transit. The pilot launch of "Our Defence Story on the Move" series, featuring Navy Museum-themed displays at Downtown Line Expo Station, exemplifies our innovative approach to storytelling through the public transportation network.

SDC curated sustainability activities for POSB PAssion Run to engage young families, in support of our community partners

We continue to strengthen and promote partnerships by hosting our quarterly DCS Partners Connect sessions which bring together stakeholders from relevant sectors and communities to explore new collaborations and projects. In line with our commitment to promote active citizenry, we are also expanding our collaborations with industry and community partners such as People's Association (PA), POSB and Heartware Network, to create opportunities for meaningful engagement and co-creation.

RAISING AWARENESS & RESONANCE OF OUR DEFENCE STORY

DCS collaborated closely with the RSN on the research and curation of the exhibition aboard the RSS Endeavour for Navy@ Vivo. The experience attracted over 30,000 visitors and helped to highlight the pivotal role of the Navy in Singapore's defence and security. DCS also played a key role in framing historical RSN photographs and documents, further enhancing the exhibition's narrative.

Our reach was further extended through the "Capture Your NS Memories", Call-for-Stories initiative at Navy@ Vivo and the RSAF55 Open House. A joint project with MINDEF Nexus, DCS recruited and trained youth volunteers from our Institutes of Higher Learning (IHL) partners to collect stories from NSmen and the local community, to preserve and share their National Service (NS) experiences with a broader audience in the future NS-themed Gallery.

ENHANCING OUR OFFERINGS

As part of efforts to update our content and enhance the storytelling in the SDC's Permanent Exhibits Gallery (PEG), we introduced a new display on our National Symbols. Featuring six artefacts, the display enriches the narrative of Singapore's road to independence and strengthens the connection to our nation's history. To further engage visitors, an audio guide was introduced to enable visitors to deepen the exploration of our exhibition galleries.

Interactive showcases and exhibit displays were also added across SDC to enhance our sustainability messaging, layering information for our programmes and tours and enriching our sustainability initiatives.

Upgraded Paintball Arena, the only multi-level paintball experience in Singapore

Several enhancements have been made to upgrade our facilities and refresh SDC's spaces to improve visitor experience. A new outdoor adventure learning facility was also launched to cater to the rising demand for outdoor learning. Since September 2023, the facility has engaged close to 6,000 students from primary to post-secondary levels. The students gained memorable experience through blended hands-on learning which incorporated visits to SDC galleries and team-building activities.

SCHOOL ENGAGEMENT

DCS and its museums continued to be preferred National Education (NE) Learning Journey partners for NE Commemorative Day programmes and resources. Drawing on our expertise in role-play pedagogy, these programmes immersed students in scenarios that tackled contemporary issues. Through role-playing, students acted as investigators in a fictional post-disaster scenario, navigating puzzles in an Escape Room-style challenge to understand the impact of climate change. Through hands-on activities, we provided students with fresh perspectives to connect with and reflect on national and global topics.

Engaging educators through DCS' NE Connect

DCS refreshed and introduced new programmes that leverage our expertise in game-based learning to cater to educators and students of diverse age groups. We also continue to work closely with the Ministry of Education (MOE) and IHLs to ensure alignment with the latest curriculum.

Together with our latest education partner, National Institute of Early Childhood Development (NIEC), we successfully piloted DIY educational resources for SNM's preschool engagement and plans are in place to extend the collaboration to SDC and the Singapore Air Force Museum (SAFM). DCS will be working with NIEC to provide training workshops on pedagogy and curriculum development for our staff.

YOUTH ENGAGEMENT

Youth remain a key priority for our engagement efforts. We creatively weave NE and Total Defence themes into our activities to effectively engage the youth through gameplay. Our sustained partnerships and ongoing collaborations with the IHLs enabled us to maintain a strong presence and collaboratively design impactful programmes that would meet the changing needs of educators and students.

For the third time, DCS was engaged by Temasek Polytechnic (TP) to organise their TP LEAD Summit and connect student leaders with industry practitioners to explore real-world sustainability challenges. ITE College West also engaged SDC for the second consecutive year for their orientation programme involving over 3,000 students participating in NE activities.

Besides structured broad-based engagement, DCS also actively works with our IHL MOU partners on special projects to invite youth to co-create and contribute to the narrative of Singapore's future. Our annual mentorship collaboration with Singapore Polytechnic (SP) events management students this year saw the successful curation and execution of SDC's Halloween event, attracting close to 9,000 participants. As we concluded our 10-year long Singapore Stories Film project with TP this year, we are also exploring new avenues for students to express their perspectives on national narratives. Our latest collaboration with NUS Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (LKYSPP) engaged graduate students through an exploration of the role of curators in military museums.

TOTAL DEFENCE PROJECTS & DEFENCE PROGRAMMES

DCS actively engages schools, students, and defence units through a variety of impactful defence programmes. This year, the annual N.E.mation! competition witnessed a significant increase in participation, with 235 storyboard submissions from 859 students across 52 schools. Five of the finalist clips also received endorsements from key partners including Cyber Security Agency (CSA) and Infocomm Media Development Authority (IMDA), extending their educational reach beyond the competition. Concurrently, our annual Guardians of the City (GOTC) II Tournament engaged 12 secondary schools in interactive learning about security threats and national resilience.

Beyond these initiatives, DCS has also been managing and developing NE activities for MINDEF and SAF units since 2021. With 104 diverse programmes ranging from walking tours to seminars, the activities foster a deeper appreciation of Singapore's defence narrative and inspire a sense of commitment among servicemen and women. New programmes are in the pipeline as DCS explores more partnerships with other museums and defence-related sites to enrich our offerings.

PUBLIC ENGAGEMENT

Riding on past year's successful runs, the highly popular CAMP1N returned during June and December school holidays. This immersive "camp-cation" offered a sleepover experience within our museum galleries. For the first time, the programme was extended to SNM, providing an overnight adventure that drew participants into the uncharted waters of naval history. At SDC, the camp was enhanced with the SAFTI Morning Walk, granting exclusive access to the SAFTI Tower and Link Bridge — a rare opportunity typically reserved for commissioning officers only. Over 90% of participants rated the programme highly, reflecting its success in engaging families and children. This will be extended to the SAFM next year.

For public engagement, DCS continued to develop exciting school holiday programmes and festivals with educational experiences that resonated with visitors and helped to encourage revisits. In March 2024, in conjunction with the announcement of SDC as a Positive Energy Building, SDC launched its inaugural Sustainability Festival. The festival which spun over the March School Holiday, featured IHL and industry partners' projects, interactive kiosks, activities and upcycled decorations, promoting awareness of the Sustainable Development Goals.

From strategic partnerships to community-driven initiatives, the collaborations with our partners and volunteers have been crucial in shaping our journey. Through various MOUs and partnership agreements, we have collaborated with both longstanding and new partners on exhibitions and programmes which have greatly broadened our role in NE and Total Defence. As DCS continues to grow, our DCS Volunteer Network has also expanded, with volunteers actively supporting our efforts across SDC, SNM, and soon, SAFM. We look forward to welcoming more partners and volunteers as we continue our journey forward.

The Friends of SDC (FoSDC) programme started following the reopening of the revamped SDC in 2021. The programme has since evolved to form DCS Volunteer Network, with more than 60 active volunteers recruited and trained to lead tours and facilitate community activities at both SDC and SNM. Since 2023, we have collaborated with various community partners to foster meaningful connections between DCS museums and a diverse range of community groups including seniors and youth with disabilities, vulnerable children and single-parent families. These experiences not only enrich the lives of the underprivileged but also enhance the volunteering journey for our dedicated team.

Exclusive Panel Session with veterans and professionals from the RSN, facilitated by military historian, Dr John Kwok, for SNM's inaugural participation in SHF2024

FY2023 saw the fruition of many new projects and partnerships between DCS museums and the wider museum community. Successful collaborations included SNM's first twinned tour collaboration with Changi Chapel Museum (CCM) for the "Battle for Singapore" campaign and DCS' first participation in Singapore Heritage Fest (SHF) featuring both SDC and SNM. Through National Heritage Board's (NHB) Museum Roundtable (MR), DCS has been growing our network and mindshare in the museum space and will be working with like-minded partners to launch new programmes.

DCS has also strategically expanded into the arts sector, engaging new partners such as National Gallery of Singapore (NGS) and signing our first MOU with the newly established Nanyang Academy of Fine Arts – University of the Arts (NAFA-UAS). Collaborations are in the pipeline, with the aim to drive co-creation, promote youth engagement and diversify our offerings to resonate with a wider audience.

ENGAGING OUR EMPLOYEES

Employee engagement and well-being are at the heart of DCS' initiatives. Quarterly town hall meetings were organised to update and align staff with our latest directions and workplans. We also recognise outstanding contributions through our Excellence Service Awards and "DCS Recognise You" Awards. To support our fast-changing transition and expansion, DCS CEO also started a weekly dialogue with staff to share the latest developments on DCS and provide opportunities for discussion of new ideas and sharing of staff's concerns.

Our Workplace Health Programme (WHP) committee organised monthly activities ranging from breakfast workshops to silent yoga and outdoor hikes, to promote healthy lifestyle and mental well-being. These activities also provided opportunities for staff bonding.

To honour and celebrate everyone's hard work and resilience, DCS also organised our first post-COVID Dinner & Dance in January 2024, hosted by former Chairman, BG Kelvin Fan. Themed "Around the World", staff embraced the event with creative outfits and enjoyed a memorable evening together.

GROWING OUR COMPETENCIES

Our people are vital to our success and we have prioritised developing museum capabilities through targeted training and upskilling initiatives. This year, DCS introduced a core competency framework and launched a competency development programme to better identify and address staff training needs. DCS staff actively participated in workshops, seminars, and learning journeys, gaining valuable insights from leading museums both locally and internationally.

Learning Journeys of staff and management to other local museums and experiences

Artefact Handling Workshop at HCC also provided DCS staff with opportunities to connect with participants from other heritage institutions

We also kickstarted our first in-house conservation talk series to increase awareness and exposure to museum work among staff and invited guests. These efforts, along with our commitment to continuous learning, pave the way for DCS to deliver high-quality museum experiences that are both educational and engaging.

2024 was a milestone year of our sustainability journey. Not only did we achieve our Net-Zero Energy Building target of our Greenest Plan for SDC, the centre began generating energy surpluses from October 2023. SDC became Singapore's first Positive Energy Museum in March 2024 and was awarded the Green Mark Platinum Positive Energy Building certification in April 2024.

Efforts to reduce a building's carbon emissions can significantly support Singapore's drive towards net-zero energy emissions. SDC's Greenest Plan has guided the museum in integrating green technologies and climate-conscious initiatives into its operational practices. Today, I am pleased to announce that SDC has not only achieved its Net-Zero Energy goal last year in September 2023, but also exceeded its own target by generating an average of more than 30% excess energy for export..”

– Guest of Honour, Senior Minister of State for Defence, Mr Zaqy Mohamad, at SDC's Sustainability Fest 2024

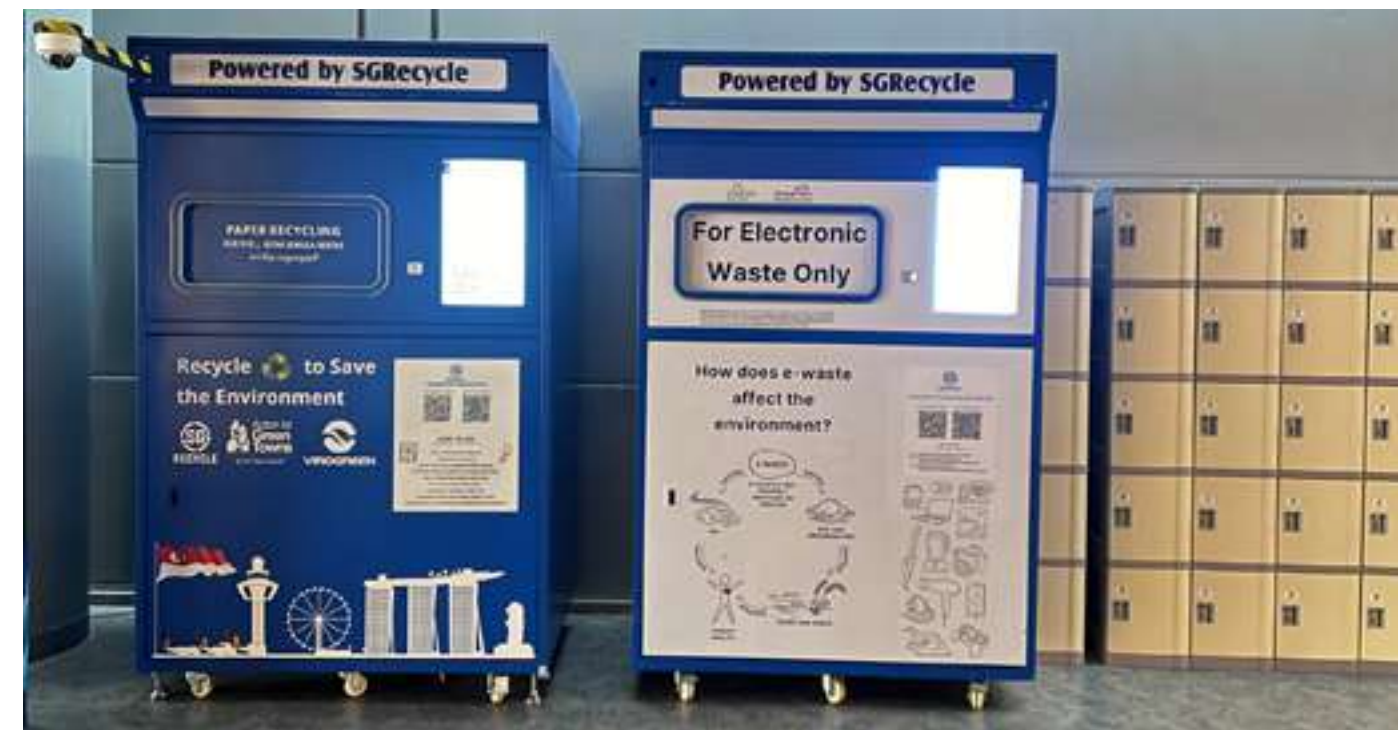

Beyond our energy accomplishments, we have continued to drive efforts to reduce resource consumption across the board. We closely monitor our water and waste targets, introducing new initiatives aimed at lowering consumption and promoting behavioural changes among staff. Through internal engagement activities spearheaded by key departments and the Sustainability Committee, we are embedding sustainability deeper into our operational culture while reaffirming our commitment to environmental stewardship.

COMMITTING TO EXCELLENCE & GROWTH

"Race on Sunshine" programme by SDC, in collaboration with NEA as part of Clean & Green Singapore, attracted more than 500 sign-ups

Partnership with Pacificlight Power on their annual Creat8 Sustainability Competition, chaired by Prof Leo Tan, engaged students across Preschool, Primary, Secondary and PSEI levels to contribute ideas for a sustainable future

SDC's sustainability initiatives have also drawn attention from local and international communities. Collaborating with IHLs, industry partners and public agencies, we have enhanced our sustainability tours and programmes, creating educational opportunities for visitors to contribute to the Singapore Green Plan 2030. Our expertise in sustainability has been recognised, with SDC being invited to and becoming a choice learning venue for sustainability leadership seminars and events.

Presentations and facility tour on SDC's sustainability journey were conducted for 13 corporations and higher learning institutions, reaching over 600 participants

In collaboration with QED, SDC hosted 36 C-Suite leaders on their sustainability learning journey with DCS CEO and former Chairman, Mr Teo Eng Dih, as panel speakers

Industry partner, Spectronik, showcased its award-winning Hydrogen fuel cell drone at SDC

SDC won the SGBC-BCA Leadership in Sustainability Awards 2024 under the category of building project for community engagement

SDC's sustainability journey continues to inspire visitors and organisations, serving as a model for others in the museums and attractions industry. Our efforts have garnered significant recognition, including featured articles in Singapore Tourism Board (STB) Sustainability Roadmap and ICOM CECA 2023 Best Practice Publication. We also received multiple accolades like the SGBC-BCA Leadership in Sustainability Award 2024 and ASEAN Energy Award 2024. In alignment with Singapore Green Plan 2030, DCS remains committed to collaborating with public-private-people (P-P-P) partners to further enhance our initiatives and "SDC's Greenest Plan" which targets to surpass national benchmarks by 2025.
